Abstract:

We are all bound to come face-to-face with adversity at different points in our lives and, as hard as things might get; it is often one's response to their circumstances that determines the outcome. It rings true to the popular saying that it is one's attitude that determines one's altitude. "Inspirational Leadership: Leadership Lessons from Kilimanjaro" gives the reader insights into how to manage those difficult times in one's life. It further demonstrates how leaders can unlock the potential of their direct reports in practical and effective ways by empowering them.
