[illegible]

As the custodian of the student life-cycle (from admission to graduation and beyond), it gives me great pleasure to convey my hearty message of felicitation to all our graduandi and Diplomandi during this graduation season.

The graduation season marks the culmination of dreams and hopes that first informed your choice of Durban University of Technology as your preferred intellectual home, and therefore, your university of choice. As we usher you into our Convocation, which is an exclusive club of our graduates and diplomates, we fervently believe that you will pursue lifelong learning through higher studies and ultimately become the very adaptive and impactful graduates we have prepared you to become through our distinctive education. As we usher you back to your families, both nuclear and extended, it remains our fervent belief that you will take your rightful places by being torch bearers who will not only improve the lives and livelihoods of your own families but our society in general.

DUT continues to be a great university whose establishment and continued functioning like that of all great universities, has required considerable effort and expenditure.

As Woodrow Wilson said: "A university should be an organ of memory for the state in the transmission of its best traditions. Every man/woman sent out from a university should be a man/woman of his nation as well as a man/woman of his nation". And Prince Bismarck was even more specific—"one third of the students of German universities broke down from overwork, another third broke down from dissipation, and the other third ruled Germany" I leave it to each of you to decide which category you fall in. Go out and rule South Africa and fly the DUT flag higher and higher!

Our ENVISION2030 clearly highlights that "our people will be creative, innovative, entrepreneurial, and adaptive to the changes in the world".

Please go out to the world and provide innovative solutions for the challenges facing our society through your business ventures, employment, and any other ventures you embark on. Go out to the world, represent us, and come back and tell us where you are and how you are making us proud.

Once more, congratulations on your fine achievements worthy of emulation, not only by your peers but by future generations. I look forward to celebrating with you and your families who will recite celebratory ululations and totems known as Izithakazelo/Direto/Diboko.

Kuse Khaya La!

Children Under 10 Years Not Permitted:

For the comfort and enjoyment of all attendees, please note that children under the age of 10 will not be permitted into the graduation venue.

This approach is in place to ensure a focused and uninterrupted experience for all guests, as graduation ceremonies often involve speeches, presentations, and moments of significance that benefit from a quiet and respectful atmosphere.

We kindly request that parents and guardians make necessary arrangements for the care of young children who fall under this age bracket.

Parental Responsibility for Children's Behaviour:

It's essential that every parent and guardian takes responsibility for the behaviour and well-being of their children (10 years and over) throughout the course of the graduation ceremony. We understand that families come together to celebrate this important milestone, and children (10 years and over) may be present to share in the joy. However, in order to maintain a smooth and respectful environment, we kindly request parents and guardians to keep a close watch on their children and ensure that they remain seated for the full duration of the ceremony.

Graduation ceremonies are significant events that involve the recognition of academic achievements and the accomplishments of students. By ensuring that children are well-behaved and attentive, parents and guardians contribute to the overall positive experience of the event for all attendees. This cooperation helps to maintain the dignity of the occasion and showcases our shared respect for the graduates and their accomplishments.

We appreciate your understanding and cooperation in upholding these guidelines, which ultimately contribute to a successful and enjoyable graduation ceremony for everyone involved.

Thank you for your attention to these important matters.
