DIPLOMA IN DRAMA STUDIES

01 JAN - 31 DEC 2021

Diploma in Drama NQF 6 SAQA ID: 100799

Location: Ritson Campus (Block N)

Description of the Programme

The Drama Programme in the Department of Drama and Production Studies centres on the development of the individual actor/director. It is a multifunctional programme designed to train actors for a varied career in professional theatre, television, radio and film.

It seeks additionally to provide specialist training in a chosen field through an elective studied at a second and third year level. The Diploma in Drama is an intensive, full-time three-year programme involving the study of theatre and the related arts. This three-year conservatory programme focuses on the holistic development of the unique creative artist. A further year training for the industry is offered through a rigorous Advanced Diploma in Drama, involving touring and long hours of dedication. This additional year invites entrepreneurial artistic engagement as a performance and directing artist with an additional area of specialization for those wanting a career in the professional industry.

Drama and Performance Studies graduates have, in the past, continued their studies by reading for a Higher Diploma in Education, (H.D.E.), a B. Tech Degree or a B.A. (Hons.). This fourth year qualification is an option for students with excellent grades accumulated in the three-year tertiary diploma and may prove beneficial to anyone wishing to teach within the education system or open their own studio. 2021 offers the exciting prospect of further training for the professional industry. Training as a professional through the Advanced Diploma in Drama is a further qualification involving one additional year of study for those intending to pursue a career in performance.

Instructional Programme

The programme for the Diploma in Drama spans three years of full-time study offered in Durban only. Practical involvement is considerable and students may not refuse to participate in any such experience as may be arranged for them by the Department, even though the work is in an unpaid capacity. Students are encouraged to seek experience in the professional theatre, if such experience does not interfere with class work, production work or attendance. The one year Advanced Diploma in Drama, offered as a new programme in 2021 in Durban only, offers selected candidates the opportunity to continue training for an additional year with the added benefit of an entrepreneurial focus.

The main thrust of the Diploma in Drama is aimed at developing performance skills, as:

Departmental productions are mounted by professional directors. Students are also trained to work in other mediums of communication, particularly television and screen acting.

1. An Actor

Preparation for a career as an actor extends from class work in distinctive acting styles, to productions, both in front of student audiences and the public in the Departmental productions mounted by professional directors. Students are also trained to work in other mediums of communication, particularly television and screen acting.

2. A Director

Throughout the three years of study, the student is exposed to the diverse skills needed in order to become a director. A study is made of various directors and directing techniques and in third year each student is required to direct a short production. Workshop also forms an integral part of the directing programme.

The central foci of the Advanced Diploma in Drama is aimed at advanced performance, entrepreneurial, and specialization training and skills development, as:

Departmental productions are mounted and are further required to travel locally, nationally and on occasions internationally. Students are encouraged to work in other mediums of communication, particularly television and on screen. Although the actor/director remains a primary point of departure, research features more prominently as does entrepreneurial development.

Time Devoted

The Department takes a maximum of 40 undergraduate and 15 graduate students per annum. Practical involvement is considerable and students must be prepared for rigorous and intensive training schedules. Students may not contract to be involved in an outside production, without the consent of the Head of Department, who may advise against such participation if it is likely to interfere with class attendance or performance criteria.

Apart from normal class time, Diploma and Advanced Diploma students must be prepared to make themselves available to rehearse and perform at night, during holidays and over weekends where necessary. Anyone not available on Friday evenings, Saturdays or Sundays for religious or other reasons, must make this clear when applying for admission to the programme.

Courses, Dance and Acting students will be required to purchase specific clothing and footwear or other specialist computer programs. Further, prescribed academic texts, plays, or books, poetry or prose anthologies, novels, may be requested by various programmes. Advanced Diploma students will additionally be expected to have laptops, iPads and smart phones.

Career Opportunities

A student completing the Diploma in Drama pursues careers predominantly in the theatre, television, film, and radio industries. The Advanced Diploma programme also equips students to create their own work, by starting small companies offering educational, professional as well as community theatre. A Diploma in Drama provides a thorough foundation for any career requiring the basics in communications and life skills, i.e. sales, public speaking, business, presentations, entertainment officer, while the Advanced Diploma in Drama additionally offers the groundwork to become a solid communicator in corporate workshops, liaisons as a publicist, tourism assistant operator, theatre reviewer, instructor etc.
