Career Information
Diploma in Drama Studies

Location: Mansfield Building, Steve Biko Campus

Description of the Programme
The Diploma Programme in the Department of Drama and Production Studies is designed to train actors for a varied career in professional theatre, television, radio and film. It seeks to provide specialist training in two chosen fields through two electives studied at a second and third year level. The Diploma in Drama is an intensive, full-time three year programme involving the study of theatre and the related arts. This three year conservatory programme focuses on the holistic development of the unique creative artist.

Drama and Performance Studies graduates have, in the past, continued their studies by reading for a Higher Diploma in Education, (H.D.E.), a B. Tech Degree or a B.A. (Hons.). This fourth year qualification is an option for students with excellent grades accumulated in the three year tertiary diploma and may prove beneficial to anyone wishing to teach within the education system or open their own studio.

INSTRUCTIONAL PROGRAMME
The programme for the Drama Diploma spans three years of full-time study offered in Durban only. Practical involvement is considerable and students may not refuse to participate in any such experience as may be arranged for them by the Department, even though the work is in an unpaid capacity. Students are encouraged to seek experience in the professional theatre, provided that such experience does not interfere with class work, production work or attendance.

The main thrust of the Diploma: Drama is aimed at developing performance skills, as:
Departmental productions are mounted by professional directors. Students are also trained to work in other mediums of communication, particularly television and screen acting.

1. An Actor
Preparation for a career as an actor extends from class work in distinctive acting styles, to productions, both in front of student audiences and the general public in the Departmental productions mounted by professional directors. Students are also trained to work in other mediums of communication, particularly television and screen acting.

2. A Director
Throughout the three years of study, the student is exposed to the diverse skills needed in order to become a director. A study is made of various directors and directing techniques and in third year each student is required to direct a short production. Workshop also forms an integral part of the directing programme.

Time Devoted
The Department takes a maximum of 40 students per annum. Practical involvement is considerable and students must be prepared for rigorous and intensive training schedules. Students may not contract to be involved in an outside production, without the consent of the Head of Department, who may advise against such participation if it is likely to interfere with class attendance or performance criteria.

Apart from normal class time, Drama students must be prepared to make themselves available to rehearse and perform at night, during holidays and over weekends where necessary. Anyone not available on Friday evenings, Saturdays or Sundays for religious or other reasons, must make this clear when applying for admission to the programme.

For certain courses, i.e. Dance and Acting students will be required to purchase specific clothing and footwear. Further, prescribed academic texts, plays, or books, poetry or prose anthologies, novels, may be requested by various programmes.

Career Opportunities
A student completing the Diploma: Drama pursues careers predominantly in the theatre, television, film, and radio industries. The programme also equips students to create their own work, by starting small companies offering educational as well as community theatre. A Diploma in Drama also provides a thorough foundation for any career requiring the basics in communications and life skills, i.e. sales, public speaking, business presentations, entertainment officer, corporate workshops, publicists, tourism, theatre reviewing, teaching etc.

Entry Requirements
For admission to the programme, the student must be in possession of a National Senior Certificate (NSC) as certified by Umalusi with a minimum of four recognized NSC 20-credits subjects passed and a minimum of 24 points achieved. These four subjects must include English. Additionally the candidate must pass all auditions. Applicants need to complete a personal interview & Departmental selection test to the satisfaction of the departmental selection committee.
