

Staff are invited to attend a Scholarship of Teaching and Learning - Transformative Educational Studies Seminar

HOW DO I IMPROVE MY PROFESSIONAL PRACTICE AS A TEACHER/RESEARCHER USING SELF-STUDY RESEARCH METHODS?

Presented by

Professor Anastasia P Samaras

Anastasia P Samaras is a Professor of Education in the College of Education and Human Development at George Mason University. She is a pedagogical scholar with extensive teaching and publishing activity directly related to her signature work in the self-study research methodology, including Self-Study Teacher Research. Anastasia is recipient of the Dissertation Research Award, University of Virginia, the Outstanding Scholar Award, University of Maryland, a Fulbright Scholar, and a visiting scholar at the University of Iceland, Vrije University, Victoria University, University of Ioannina, University of KwaZulu-Natal, and Beijing Normal University.

She serves as Chair of the Self-Study of Teacher Education Special Interest Group and co-facilitator of Self-Study Scholars' Collaborative (S<sup>3</sup>C) on the Visually Rich Digital Learning Environment. Her research centers on designing and studying Neo-Vygotskian-based applications in transdisciplinary professional practice, including her own.

DATE: 23 July 2014
TIME: 1:00 pm to 3:00 pm
VENUE: Hotel School Conference Centre,
Ritson Road Campus, Durban University of Technology
RSVP: Sibongile Ansie Madi
Email: sibongilem@dut.ac.za on or before 18 July 2014

